TORPID BOWELS, DISORDERED LIVER and MALARIA.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, A feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three [illegible] ers of the system, producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work and are a perfect ANTIDOTE TO MALARIA.

[illegible] AND WOUNDED.

hospital at [illegible] charge the [illegible] wing killed: Capt. Jack Desmond shot through the head; Harry [illegible] Peiser shot through the head; John Hel[illegible] shot through the breast; Frank [illegible] Alfred Hopkins, Charles Bl[illegible] and James Camper; W. H. Baltz, an 18 year old boy, is dying. Phil [illegible] shot in the breast. Severely [illegible] while in the legs: Lewis Kol[illegible] right leg; Henry Budd thigh; Joel Krone [illegible]; Edward Rehu[illegible] right leg below the knee; [illegible] Kirchhurst right leg above the knee; William Sullivan thigh; J. J. Barth, a boy, left shoulder; George Wise left [illegible] Serious: John Heckern [illegible] through both legs. (It is said this ball after passing through both legs killed a small boy.)

Seven dead men are in the [illegible] and [illegible] and could not be reached. It is reasonably [illegible] that [illegible] Hunt and Lieutenant [illegible] O'Mara of the police force were killed [illegible] communication with the jail is very difficult.

THE M[illegible] RETURN AN[illegible] BATTLE [illegible]

2 A. M.—The [illegible] gone from the vicinity [illegible] that the fire engines [illegible] The [illegible] factory [illegible] seem to have been extinguished [illegible] The Fourteenth regiment has not [illegible] reached the court house [illegible]

1:30 A. M.—The startling fact is just [illegible] that the mob have three cannon [illegible] and Walnut. They are said to have [illegible] from Music hall. They are [illegible] here to await the [illegible] of the [illegible] regiment, which is expected momentarily. Instead of the fight being over it looks now as if the soldiers and the police are being overpowered by the mob. The Fourteenth regiment has been placed in front of the court house with unloaded guns. They are keeping the crowd back, but are pelted with [illegible] bats and occasionally a pistol ball is fired. [illegible] Regret has been wounded in the leg. The police are worn out and besides have not arms fit to cope with the mob. The troops are insufficiently supplied with ammunition.

THE MOB DISPERSED.

3 A. M.—The mob [illegible] possession of the cannon at Fourth and Walnut seemed to have had no powder. They were trying to secure so[illegible] and they had ob[illegible] tained kegs of iron to [illegible] used instead of cannister, and were moving up Fourth street when a squad of thirty policemen under command of Lieutenant Bors emerged from the Hammond street station house only half a square south of Fourth street, and by a gallant charge without firing a pistol captured all the guns and dispersed the mob. There were no casualties except from the use of clubs. The police all through have shown remarkable bravery and coolness under all circumstances. This capture weakened the spirit of the mob to such an extent that they are not likely to rally again during the night.

During the [illegible] on Powell's gun store Mr. Powell [illegible] defended his property and killed at least three [illegible] One account says he killed seven.

FIFTY MEN KILLED.

At 4:45 A. M. comparative quiet is restored and the mob has dispersed. The dead are still lying in the streets in the vicinity of the conflict and an estimate [illegible] the killed is fifty to seventy-five. Only a small portion of them have been identified. [illegible] rum[illegible] about the killing of Colonel Hunt and Lieutenant O'Mara was found to be false. There were no [illegible] casualties in the jail.

Recapitulation.

CINCINNATI, March 30.—At daylight this morning an associated press reporter walked through the quarter of the city where the stormy scenes of the previous night were enacted. Over the ruins of the treasurer's office [illegible] northern part of the building fire was still visible, and from other portions a thin white-colored smoke and steam were rising as the water thrown by the engines fell on the burning contents. Last night when the mob [illegible] down the occupants of the treasurer's office were sitting at the open plate glass windows smoking cigars and reading an account of the previous night's attempt on the jail. [illegible] thought that [illegible] would be broken and the accumulated wealth of the contents of that great building in ashes [illegible] building front [illegible] more [illegible] other losses in that quarter were [illegible]

Only pools of blood here and there [illegible] during the [illegible] Everything [illegible] bodies of drunken [illegible] who [illegible] policemen [illegible] they fell or [illegible] and the mob had dispersed and the streets were clear.

A SICKENING SPECTACLE.

At the north side of Court and Walnut a sickening spectacle is presented. Apparently [illegible] taken shelter in a [illegible] the fatally wounded had crawled [illegible] after [illegible] on the ground along the street. Blood was visible in a half a dozen [illegible] pools [illegible]

The crowd [illegible] court house was [illegible] and [illegible] except [illegible] the feeling that the crowd was angered at the [illegible] were there was a failure of justice. [illegible] is getting at the [illegible] was purely wanton. [illegible] was there any excuse [illegible] this property. The crowd was permitted [illegible] through windows breaking them in and when [illegible] flared some devilish cunning [illegible] suggested to cast some [illegible] on the bonfire. This was the worst [illegible] the thing that [illegible] was the Paris [illegible] Commune [illegible] said another. With this [illegible] ship and with those motives chairs, carpets and desks were broken and piled in heaps in the treasury [illegible] and matches applied. As this was done a drunken hoodlum in the crowd yelled, "Burn the [illegible]"

THE KILLING OF CAPTAIN DESMOND

Just here occurred one of the most melancholy events of the night, the killing of Captain John Desmond. He had been apprised of the [illegible] to burn the court house, and was sent with a squad of militia to [illegible] but [illegible] the [illegible] same time Private McGuire was shot through the breast and fatally hurt. Desmond was a young lawyer of much promise, a fine soldier, the head of his [illegible] and his loss is deeply deplored.

There was no use now in trying to stop the [illegible] They went from office to office [illegible] [illegible] records [illegible] Office after office was reached by the fire and soon the [illegible] crashed and fell [illegible]

HOW THE MILITIA [illegible]

It was [illegible] the streets [illegible] Hawkins [illegible] the jail and [illegible] at the court house [illegible] It was after all [illegible] of the [illegible] and the [illegible] [illegible] was not attributable to any timidity [illegible] of the men to do their duty.

MOVEMENTS OF THE MOB.

The united testimony of those who had an [illegible] is that the mob was [illegible] composed the bulk of the violent and active [illegible] and they were not fully armed. They were [illegible] The general opinion is that at very [illegible] much [illegible] night [illegible] made on Powell's gun [illegible] night. The first man that entered was shot and the second shared the same fate and the third was severely wounded. An effort was then made [illegible] the building, but the proprietor fired from [illegible] window. The fire was well directed and one [illegible] was given up [illegible] [illegible] came who captured the cannon and [illegible] the jail and the mob turned its attention to the militia inside the jail.

The scenes were [illegible] The mob at no time made an impression on any part of the building unless by [illegible] The troops were [illegible] and [illegible] soldiers [illegible] get when not called for especially. The police were not [illegible] they found most comfortable through [illegible] quent calls for special duty [illegible] to be in their cell [illegible] trembling with fear [illegible] alert through the night.

A SOLEMN STILLNESS

To describe the gravity of the situation [illegible] everyone. Everywhere solemnity prevails [illegible] the jail [illegible] the people to a realization of [illegible] If anything could intensify [illegible] Hamilton [illegible] against the [illegible] the [illegible] break the revelations of the[illegible] were a [illegible] absence of [illegible] curiosity seekers [illegible] were regarded with dread and at no [illegible] not wonderful [illegible] much travel on the streets in that vicinity as [illegible] usual on ordinary Sundays.

LAND FRAUDS ALLEGED.

The New Mexico Legislature Charges the General Land Office with Gross Conspiracy.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Members-elect of the New Mexico legislature have sent to Representative Springer to be presented to congress a memorial charging that millions of acres of land in New Mexico and Colorado have been converted to private uses. [illegible] will be presented to the house shortly. It is thought that a special committee will be asked for to investigate the charges.

Representative McMarnes of the New Mexico legislature who prepared the memorial says therein: "I appeal to the record to establish the charge of corruption and fraud for which [illegible] [illegible] I charge that the general land office without authority of law has held in reserve in the interest of private land claimants 4,000,000 acres of public land in Colorado and New Mexico that [illegible] a large portion were sold [illegible] that public land [illegible] reserve [illegible] fraudulently obtained [illegible] United States by private land claims [illegible] I further charge that in [illegible] instance [illegible] a great extent [illegible] lands [illegible] have [illegible] the general land office [illegible] homestead and pre-emption entries on public lands [illegible] United States therefor [illegible] memorial [illegible] the following grants: The [illegible] Maxwell, [illegible] Gold [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] named in connection with the matter are [illegible] Clark, [illegible] Elkins, Thomas B. THE FLOODS.

The Ice Gorge at Bismarck, Dakota, Gives Way—The Southern Flood.

BISMARCK, March 30.—The twenty five mile gorge in the river here still holds. The river rose slowly all night and is now stationary. The gorge above Washburn has broken and is expected to reach here to-night. It will raise the water, and it is feared will do much damage to the railroad and steamboat interests. Reports from Mandan, which was flooded in 1881, are that a great state of anxiety prevails. Stores [illegible] being moved to upper stories and preparations made for an emergency. It requires a further rise of six feet to equal the flood of 1881.

CAPITAL TALK.

Morrison's Measure and its Probable Fate—An other Caucus Suggested.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—[Special.]—It is probable that the Morrison tariff bill will be taken up by the house some time during the coming week, although [illegible] [illegible] talking it out [illegible] There is every probability [illegible] defeated. A careful canvass of the republican side shows that less than a dozen members will vote for the bill.

Mr. Kasson of the republican leaders favors discussion but says: "I am opposed to any one of the [illegible] upon a bad and indefensible system. You must consider individual interests separately. You cannot mass them in a lump as they are in this bill, but I do not want to avoid discussion. The issue is too important to be set aside in that way. If the democrats who favor [illegible] revision [illegible] the republicans [illegible] [illegible] Morrison will receive no aid from that side of the house."

It is not improbable that another caucus will be held this week. Morrison's hesitation in bringing matters to an issue has along been his greatest source of weakness, and several members have [illegible] a few days [illegible] the [illegible] would be another caucus and the appointment of a committee to reconsider the tariff question and report as proposed by King of Louisiana. Two days ago [illegible] [illegible] was [illegible] the Morrison bill [illegible] for two or three weeks.

The bill which passed the senate it will be remembered provided for the construction of seven new cruisers to cost $4,000,000. The senate committee [illegible] cut the paragraph which [illegible] $15,000 appropriated by the last congress to complete the monitor Monadnock at the Mare Island navy yard back into the treasury. This is an item over which there was a warm contest in the house and will also form a bone of contention in conference. The senate committee will report the bill early next week.

STATE DISPATCHES.

A Negro Shoots a Chinaman at Salem.

SALEM, March 30.—[Special.]—Tom Davis, colored, for many years cook and general servant in the family of George W. Gray of this city, shot and severely wounded a Chinaman this afternoon under the following circumstances. He and a couple of gentlemen were standing on the sidewalk in front of the Willamette university when three Chinamen passed, one of whom was carrying some bacon suspended on either end of a pole. A lady was passing at the same time and to avoid being hit Davis backed up against the fence. With this precaution even a contact became probable and Davis struck the pole with his hand, which caused the burden to fall to the ground. The now enraged Chinaman turned and used some uncalled for epithets and threatened to punish Davis, who told him to keep off and avoid trouble. The Celestial then seized his pole and was about to hit Davis, who to protect himself drew his revolver and fired the contents entering the Chinaman's arm just below the right shoulder and from there passing into his side. This enraged the other Chinamen and more trouble seemed imminent, but Davis kept them at bay with a revolver. Other Chinamen flocked to the scene and Davis taking a back street at once gave himself up and was taken before Recorder D'Arcy, who placed his bail at $500 for his appearance for examination on Tuesday next. Hon. J. J. Shaw appeared as Davis' counsel and bonds were at once furnished. The Chinaman's wound is not considered fatal [illegible] Davis has resided here for years and has always borne an excellent reputation as a [illegible] man and one not likely to do any one an injury unless forced to do so.

PATERNALISM IN GOVERNMENT.

The notion that government ought to do everything for everybody is plainly growing more and more prevalent. A bill is now before congress to spend many millions of dollars to build southern school houses. Large sums were recently appropriated to compensate those who suffered losses by the flood in the Ohio river. If a disease assumes an epidemic character, as yellow fever and cholera often do, the first thought is to call upon the national treasury for help. Exaggerated reports of the cattle disease in Kansas and Texas have secured a large appropriation for adoption of measures to check the malady. A manifest tendency of the times is toward increase of officialism. Government is called on to do everything: it must run the railroads and telegraphs, hold the land and parcel it out to the people; and see that everybody is taken care of. Ten thousand bills have been introduced into congress for the regulation of our social condition, the direct effect of them all being to increase governmental meddling and to supersede local and individual enterprise. Possibly California may soon put in a claim for help from the general government on account of the losses of a dry season, or Oregon may expect compensation for destruction of wheat fields by a winter's frosts. Why not, since people along the Ohio river, who have suffered from a freshet, throw themselves upon the government, and the descendants of all who, since the old colonial days have served the country in any capacity, are going before congress with relief bills, pleading the merits of their ancestors as reasons why they should be pensioned upon the country? How all this increases the dependence, and consequently the servitude, of the people in the same ratio as it increases officialism, must be apparent to every one who gives it even the slightest attention. Herbert Spencer, in a recent article on "The Coming Slavery," presents some very striking thoughts on this general subject. All socialism, he argues involves slavery. "What," he asks, "is the essential idea of a slave? That which fundamentally distinguishes the slave is that he labors under coercion to satisfy another's desires. The degree of his slavery varies according to the ratio between that which he is forced to yield up and that which he is allowed to retain; and it matters not whether his master is a single person or a society. If, without option, he has to labor for the society, and receives from the general stock such portion as the society awards him, he becomes a slave to the society. Socialistic arrangements necessitate an enslavement of this kind; and toward such an enslavement many recent measures, and still more the measures advocated, are carrying us." This writer, whose crumbs are worth more than most men's loaves, says further:

> The blank form of a question daily asked is, "We have already done this; why should we not do that?" And the regard for precedent suggested by it is ever pushing on regulative legislation. Having had brought within their sphere of operation more and more numerous businesses, the acts restricting hours of employment and dictating the treatment of workers are now to be made applicable to shops. From inspecting lodging houses to limit the numbers of occupants and enforce sanitary conditions, we have passed to inspecting all houses below a certain rent in which there are members of more than one family, and are now passing to a kindred inspection of all small houses. Supplying children with food for their minds by public agency is being followed in some cases by supplying food for their bodies; and after the practice has been made gradually more general, we may anticipate that the supply now proposed to be made gratis in the one case will eventually be proposed to be made gratis in the other, the argument that good bodies as well as good minds are needful to make good citizens being logically urged as a reason for the extension. And then, avowedly proceeding on the precedents furnished by the church, the school and the reading room, all publicly provided, it is contended that "pleasure, in the sense it is now generally admitted, needs legislating for and organizing at least as much as work." Not precedent only prompts this spread, but also the necessity which arises from supplementing ineffective measures, and for dealing with the artificial evils continually caused. Failure does not destroy faith in the agencies employed, but merely suggests more stringent use of such agencies or wider ramifications of them.

A necessary part of this great evil is the growth of officialism, of which the same writer says:

> Not only does the power of resistance of the regulated part decrease in a geometrical ratio as the regulating part increases, but the private interests of many in the regulated part itself make the change of ratio still more rapid. In every circle conversations show that now, when the passing of competitive examinations renders them eligible for the public service, youths are being educated in such ways that they may pass them and get employment under government. One consequence is, that men who might otherwise reprobate some further growth of officialism are led to look on it with tolerance, if not favorably, as offering possible careers for those dependent on them and those related to them. Any one who remembers the numbers of upper-class and middle-class families anxious to place their children will see that no small encouragement to the spread of legislative control is now coming from those who, but for the personal interests thus arising, would be hostile to it. This pressing desire for careers is enforced by the preference for careers which are thought respectable. "Even if his salary is small, his occupation will be that of a gentleman," thinks the father, who wants to get a government clerkship for his son. And this relative dignity of state servants, as compared with those occupied in business, increases as the administrative organization becomes a larger and more powerful element in society, and tends more and more to fix the standard of honor. The prevalent ambition with a young Frenchman is to get some small official post in his locality, to rise thence to a place in the local center of government, and finally to reach some head office in Paris. And in Russia, where that universality of state-regulation which characterizes the militant type of society has been carried farthest, we see this ambition pushed to its extreme. Says Mr. Wallace, quoting a passage from a play, "All men, even shopkeepers and cobblers, aim at becoming officers, and the man who has passed his whole life without official rank seems to be not a human being."

H. W. S.

Nearly every newspaper one picks up is full of the cry rung on the vague term "reform." A common notion is that "reform" simply means a change of officials. "Turn the rascals out," shout the organs of one party; "keep the rascals out," shout the organs of the other. But the reform required consists far less in deciding what party shall make and administer our laws and get the emoluments of office than in restricting and fixing the limits of governmental action. Politics is a growing trade because official life has become the object of an increasing class, and because the growing disposition of the people to look to government for everything increases the scope of the public service while it decreases the energy and self-dependence of the people. Extension, then, of the principle and practice of paternalism in government with consequent multiplication of official places, is the great evil of the times to which reform ought chiefly to be directed. For one of our political parties to charge this evil upon the other is shallow and insincere. The spirit that produces the evil prevails among the people, and consequently infects and infests both parties. It has been wisely said that there is no political alchemy by which you can get golden conduct out of leaden instincts; and the growing notion that government ought to do everything for everybody is a manifestation of a decline of individual and public spirit which bodes no good to our country.

Mr. Gladstone's new franchise bill will admit 1,400,000 new voters in England, 200,000 in Scotland and 400,000 in Ireland, or 2,000,000 in all, in addition to the present voting population of the United Kingdom. That number is 3,000,000, so that the total vote if Mr. Gladstone's bill passes will be 5,000,000 in a population somewhat under 35,000,000. This is one vote in seven, whereas in this country, where there are no restrictions upon suffrage, the voting population is one in five. This bill brings Great Britain so near to universal suffrage the difference cannot be worth talking about. If the bill should pass, Mr. Matthew Arnold may be searching about in vain in his own country to find that intelligent and conservative "remnant" which, he thinks, is the salt of the earth, and which is to save all governments from going to the bad.

SINCERITY IN THE PULPIT.

In no profession is sincerity more requisite than in the ministry. The minister should preach not only what he believes, but as he believes. His preaching should take the tone of his personal character. It must take this tone to be genuine and sincere. If one believes that the best results are to be attained by exciting a religious fervor in the hearts of his hearers, his preaching should be warm and emotional. On the other hand if he thinks that the development of character is the best result of preaching he should be didactic. He should present the great thoughts of God, and immortality, of sin and holiness to the mind and trust to the normal effect of the correct apprehension of these truths for the fruits of his ministry. Every preacher cannot succeed in the same way, but every one ought to understand his own gift—the talent entrusted to him, and be faithful to it. In the long run it is generally true that fidelity to ones own idea of what he is called to do will lead to the most satisfactory results, though it may not in all cases lead to the greatest apparent success. These remarks have been suggested by the fact that the apparent impression made by the brief ministry of the Rev. Mr. Hayhurst in this city is not at all commensurate with his obvious ability as a preacher. He is learned, profound and discriminating in his pulpit efforts, and as a didactic preacher he would take a high rank in any city. His sermons, judging from the few we have heard, illustrate that fine quality of knowledge, the result of severe mental discipline, which distinguishes the vague half-learned man from the thorough scholar. When the attention of a hearer is taxed by discriminating statements, by definitions of terms, and the careful balancing of propositions it is sometimes forgotten that exactness of knowledge is amplitude of knowledge. The process of intellectual development is, that of differentiation. The ideas multiply, and increase according to the exactness with which they are apprehended and defined. So the method which Mr. Hayhurst has adopted, while not the most popular, and perhaps, not on the whole the best, is very nearly the best of its kind. He has fully apprehended the value of motives in the sphere of human conduct, and relies upon those considerations of the world to come, which constituted the staple of the teachings of Jesus or the development of that character which, in his farewell discourse, he said is the noblest work of God. The pulpit is not entirely free from the spirit of demagogy, and so long as there is a tendency among ministers to seek for immediate, and sometimes, superficial results through a dilution of the doctrines of the church, there will always be a place for thorough and discriminating instruction in the way of life.

Mr. N. Versteeg, of the board of school directors, has taken the criticisms of THE OREGONIAN so greatly to heart that he has actually ordered the copy of the paper formerly left at his house to be stopped, expressly to punish the paper for its misbehavior. This is severe indeed. Perhaps now Mr. Versteeg will accumulate money enough out of this economy to become a taxpayer, and so entitle him to hold the office of school director. On the county tax roll his property stands entirely covered by indebtedness. Perhaps now too the attorney for the school district, who also pays no tax but draws $400 a year for a supposed service, will interest himself as much in Mr. Versteeg's want of qualification for the directorship as he did in pointing out the ineligibility of Dr. Strong.

It looks as if Blaine might have more strength in the republican national convention, at the offstart, than any other candidate. Yet there is small probability of his nomination. If his name goes into the convention at all he is likely to be in the same position Grant was in 1880—that is, with more strength than any other candidate, but confronted by a resolute and unyielding opposition, made up partly of those who have an invincible repugnance to Blaine, and partly of the friends of other candidates. Out of such a situation will come some result not yet within the range of accurate prediction, but a ticket which pretty certainly will carry the whole strength of the republican party.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Southern Oregon.

There is a sulphur spring in the vicinity of Woodville, whose waters are said to possess curative powers of much value.

Grant's Pass district will soon have a fine school house, two stories high and 30x50 feet in size, being now in course of construction. That section will then have superior facilities for educating the young.

Western Oregon.

Some of the farmers of Polk county are complaining of the wild oats growing faster than their spring sown wheat.

This season 35,000 bushels of wheat were shipped from Smithfield, and a large quantity is yet in store at the elevators there.

Farmers about Junction City say that the wild oats are more numerous than ever known before at this time of the year, and will do considerable damage to early-sown grain.

D. M. Guthrie of Dallas has reported to the department at Washington, D. C., that 8 per cent. of the total number of sheep in Polk county last year were killed by coyotes.

Eugene City Journal: From a gentleman living in Mohawk we learn that the small fruit such as plums, peaches, blackberries, etc., are very badly winter-killed. The general opinion is that the fruit crop of the Willamette will be short the coming season.

Saturday Deputy Sheriff Cochran, of Lane county, arrested one Abe Smith, at Big Prairie, on the Military road, on a warrant from Yakima county, W. T., charging the said individual with stealing three head of horses in that county in September last. The prisoner is in jail awaiting the coming of the sheriff of Yakima county.

Eastern Oregon.

The Umatilla democratic county convention will be held in Pendleton April 11.

Wheat is selling at sixty cents per bushel and flour at $4 50 per barrel in the Grande Ronde valley.

The total number of pupils in Grant county, according to the report of the county school superintendent, is 1260; total apportionment, $816 20.

Union county Record: The divorce crop is not as prolific as usual this spring. But court does not meet until May, and there is no telling what another week may bring forth.

A meeting of the democratic county convention is called to be held at the courthouse in Union, April 10, for the purpose of electing delegates to the state convention to be held at The Dalles on April 17, 1884, and to nominate candidates to fill the various county offices.

The Heppner Times learns that the mail which was thrown off the west bound train at Alkali, last Sunday night, was found the next morning under Moody's warehouse. The sack had been cut open and robbed of its contents. It is impossible to ascertain how much or what was taken, but as more or less registered mail comes to this office every day, it is very likely some one will be loser.

Fred Scott of La Grande has a valuable relic of the war of 1812, in the portrait of his grandfather, General Crosby, who figured conspicuously in the battles of Lundy's Lane and New Orleans. The portrait was executed by a French artist and is valuable as a work of merit as well as that of a historical relic and family keepsake. It has been three times rescued from as many fires. In the Portland fire of 1873 a corner was badly torn when Mr. Scott snatched it from a burning building; otherwise it is in a good state of preservation and is highly prized by its owner.

Alkali correspondence of the Heppner Gazette: Something like 170,000 pounds of merchandise is now here for several Heppner merchants. The rate on eastern freight reshipped from Portland has been fixed at fifty cents per hundred. Business is lively. Farmers are taking out a great many agricultural implements, which indicates that a good many new farms are to be opened up. We have two churches, but have not had any regular service thus far. A $1000 tax for the purpose of carrying on a school was voted and carried.

A Dalles exchange says, regarding crop prospects: The ground has been too moist until within the past few days for plowing, but at last accounts was in excellent condition, and we learn the farmers are very busy sowing grain. The object is either to sow in the fall or very early in the spring, so that the early rains will fall upon the growing crops. We have made inquiry of many of our farmers and learn that the frost did little or no damage to the fall wheat; and there is every indication that it will yield abundantly. Some of our citizens who own orchards have informed us that the severe weather last winter injured the peach buds, and fears are entertained that we shall have a small yield this summer. The severe weather of the winter of 1883 damaged these trees considerably, and the mercury ranging much lower last winter, has undoubtedly injured this fruit for some years to come.

The following educational statistics of Umatilla county have been condensed from the annual report of the school superintendent: Whole number of organized school districts in the county, 121; school districts reporting, 99; persons between 4 and 20 years of age residing in the county, 4815; pupils between 4 and 20 years of age enrolled in the public schools in the county this year, 2718; average daily attendance in the public schools, 1665; pupils enrolled in private schools, 276; children between 4 and 20 years of age not attending any school during the year, 1191; teachers employed in the public schools during the year, 133; teachers employed in private schools during the year, 10; teachers employed holding first grade certificates, 39; teachers employed holding second class certificates, 44; applicants during the year for teachers' certificates, 80; average number of months public schools have been taught during the year, 4½; private schools in this county, 10; school houses built during the year, 14; school houses in this county—log 10, frame 55, brick 1, total, 66; estimated value of school houses, including school house grounds, $45,478; estimated value of furniture belonging to school houses, $3,480 45; estimated value of apparatus, etc., $289; average salary paid male teachers per month in the public schools, $52 14; average salary paid female teachers per month during the year, $36 50; graded schools in this county, 5; teachers in graded schools, 11; pupils attending the same, 911; amount of school funds in the hands of district clerks March 1, 1883, $2,609 12; received by district tax during the year, $10,275 13; of money appropriated to school districts from the county school fund, $1,322 12; county apportionment of the state school fund during the year, $3,175 20; money raised by rate bills during the year, $1,414 36; school funds received from all other sources during the year, $5,876 68; total amount of school funds received during the year by the school districts of this county, $34,970 [illegible]; total amount paid for school purposes during the year in this county, $[illegible]142 28; amount of school funds in the hands of district clerks March 1, 1884, $2,828 34.

In speaking of the westward tide of immigration, the Union county Record says, editorially: Already they are beginning to arrive both by the Central and Northern routes. About two weeks ago some thirty or forty settlers took up their homes in Pine valley, in this county, fresh from the east, and but a few days on the road, having arrived at Huntington over the Oregon Short Line. On the other side of us they are coming by the wagon loads. Every stage from Meacham's is crowded with passengers, a majority of whom are immigrants to this country. In the Wallowa immigrants are pouring in almost daily, and not less than thirty persons have passed through La Grande for that section during the last ten days. Beyond the Blue mountains it is the same, except on a much larger scale. There they are continually arriving by the carloads, here by the wagon loads. When the two tracks shall have been united at Huntington, immigrants will be as thick as on the other side of the Blue mountains.

Washington Territory.

Twelve teachers are now employed in the Central school at Seattle.

The Whitman county republican central committee will meet at Colfax on April 29th.

George Frye, an old resident of Olympia, died at Mud Bay on Monday of pneumonia, aged about 46.

A force of men are at work on the steamer Eliza Anderson, preparing that noteworthy craft for active business.

H. T. Pintler, living on the Touchet, was severely injured, a few days ago, by being gored by an infuriated cow.

Ainsworth is complaining of dull times just now, and a number of business men are moving to other locations.

Asotin is the most rapidly growing town on the Snake river. A water works company has been organized there.

A 5-year old daughter of Thomas Amos fell through the Spring Flat railroad bridge last Saturday and received painful injuries.

Walla Walla exchange: The farmers are busy plowing and getting themselves in a state of readiness for a harvest in the wheat, rye and hay.

Seattle Chronicle: An adjuster has gone to the scene of the recent Chehalis fire to report on the loss. W. J. Fife, of this city, will lose about $2500 above insurance.

A citizen of Seattle reports that in a ramble through the city he counted seventy-five houses in course of construction, their estimated value aggregating over $300,000, an average of $4000 each.

Charles Eichler, who suspended business a few days ago at Walla Walla, has arranged his business affairs so as to be able to open up in a few days with a larger stock of goods than ever.

Work upon the railroad bridge over Snake river at Ainsworth, is progressing slowly, there being but a very few men employed upon the work at the present time. Failure to procure the necessary iron compelled the discharge of a large number of employes.

The Almota is the only boat now running on the upper river, but this week Captain Baughman will put on the D. S. Baker, thus affording the traveling public daily boats up and down the river and a rapid shipment of the grain, the Baker carrying about 3000 tons and the Almota 226.

The Farmers of Eureka flat are very busy plowing and seeding. This being what is considered the "off year," a large portion of the land will be summer-fallowed. A large acreage of wheat was sown in the fall. There will be considerable barley, but not much wheat sown this spring.

Rev. J. C. Van Patten and N. F. Cobleigh have succeeded in securing about $3000 in subscriptions towards paying the indebtedness on Whitman college. The spring term at this college opened up with an increased membership over last year. There are at present over eighty scholars in attendance.

Walla Walla Watchman: We find, after conversing with a number of prominent sheep men, that the flocks of this county have wintered very well. Grass was scarce in the fall, is very close at present, but generally speaking there was plenty of feed prepared, and sheep wintered without much loss.

Northwest Tribune: The citizens of Cheney have already commenced spring improvements with a commendable vigor and activity, denoting a growing faith in the future prosperity of the city. Sidewalks are being constructed along the principal business and residence streets, and there is every indication of substantial growth the present season.

Walla Walla Journal: J. B. Lister, ex-editor of the Pomeroy Republican and well known here, was arrested Wednesday last on a charge of embezzlement, preferred by Fred Page Tustin, of Pendleton. It is alleged that the accused has refused to account for quite a sum of money collected by him from Dr. Perkins, on account of a resident of Pendleton.

A Frenchman who runs a logging camp on Big Skookum, while trying to prevent an infuriated yoke of bulls from goring another team of cattle, was thrown on a snag, producing a painful and serious wound. He went up to Olympia for repairs, and is now doing well.

The citizens of Garfield and vicinity have organized a farmers' protective association with the following officers: President, Al. Manering; vice-president, E. M. Giles; recording secretary, Wm Simpson; corresponding secretary, H. C. Hoskins; treasurer, A. Overby. Al. Manering and H. C. Hosk ns were elected as delegates to the Colfax central association.

CABLE POINTS.

News and Gossip About Matters Now Absorbing the English Mind.

NEW YORK, March 30.—[Special.]—London cable specials contain the following points:

THE SITUATION IN THE SOUDAN.

Despite the strong pressure excited by the Jingo section of the radicals the government is determined to adhere to its decision not to attempt to send a cavalry expedition from Suakem to Berber. Military operations along the Nile and upon the Red sea will remain suspended until October, when it will be possible for English troops to march into the interior. During the burning heat of the spring and summer men as the military authorities assert that an expedition would be altogether impracticable, if not quite impossible. Additional weight is lent to this opinion by the disastrous effect of the heat upon General Graham's troops in the last march to Tamanieb. The Egyptian treasury has sent Captain Chermside £10,000 to distribute among the friendly tribes along the route from Suakem to Berber. The attempt to open the road by negotiations has been entrusted to him, and the whole question of safety of the road to Berber depends upon the amount of money distributed. General Graham, however, will forbid Captain Chermside to set out for Berber unless he is guaranteed safe conduct by all the tribes along the route.

Advices from Cairo report that Captain Mayieux and officers with him are making progress in the survey of the Nile, which is being made by order of the admiralty, to find out whether it will be practicable to send a flotilla of gunboats up the river. General Stephenson, commander-in-chief of the British forces in Egypt, advises the government not to send English troops beyond Assiout during the heated season.

Letters received from upper Egypt all concur in stating that tribes between Berber and Assouan are waiting eagerly for the signal which shall bid them to rise against Egyptian authority. They are all in hearty sympathy with El Mahdi. Isolated attacks upon Egyptian villages by Arabs are becoming frequent. The spirit of insurrection and the hope of freedom from Egyptian control are growing stronger every day.

Telegraphic communication with Khartoum still remains broken, and no news of Gordon is forthcoming. It is awaited with feverish anxiety and suspense. The people hope for the best, but it is useless to deny that many fear the worst.

RUPTURE IN THE IRISH PARTY.

The Irish party are considerably exercised at the growing difference between its two leaders, Michael Davitt and Parnell. They are especially at variance in their ideas regarding the manner of conducting the coming election campaign. At present Davitt and Harrington, M. P., are indulging in a little controversy concerning the organization of the campaign. Davitt urges freedom in the selection of candidates by the constituents, while Harrington says it is necessary for the parliamentary party to have a voice in their selection. Davitt contends that the land act has done nothing to satisfy the real movers in the land league agitation. He declares that he and his followers will have nothing to do with any extension of the purchase clause of the act. He will not consent to the creation of peasant proprietary, obtained by government advances, for the purpose of buying out the landlords' interest. Davitt's plan is to abolish landlordism, root and branch, by having the tenants continue the process which has already made landlords' property nearly unsalable.

MARY ANDERSON.

The latest rumor regarding Mary Anderson that she has refused an offer of marriage from Lord Coleridge has redounded to the discredit of the actress. The public accept Lord Coleridge's phrase that the report was an impudent falsification, as entirely fitting. The Spectator refers to Mary Anderson as an actress who draws crowds mainly by the fame of her beauty, and says, the archbishop of Canterbury is fortunately married; but for that protection he would, under the low degradation of the public mind, be given away twice a week to some American. The Times says the report was an unworthy advertising trick. Nobody cares a cent whether Miss Anderson espouses a count or a costermonger. Miss Anderson is unable to appear at the coming benefit for the royal dramatic fund, but has sent 100 guineas as her offering.

THE FORTESCUE-GARMOYLE CASE.

The latest event in the Fortescue-Garmoyle breach of promise case is that Lord Garmoyle has been summoned to deliver, within a month, to the solicitors of plaintiff, an affidavit stating what documents are in his possession, and at the same time to answer certain interrogatories. W. G. Gilbert, the dramatist, writes to the Era in defense of Miss Fortescue's engagement at the Court theater. He says it was not due entirely to the notoriety which Miss Fortescue has gained by recent events.

AN ELEPHANT FIGHT.

The presence of the duke of Connaught at an elephant fight given by the rajah of Ulurpoor, India, will be made the subject of question in parliament. Elephants are made to fight by giving them copious draughts of rum. Some become so drunk that they can hardly stand, while others are rendered furious.

SAPLESON OFFERED THE MANAGEMENT.

Capital has been secured to complete the new opera house on the Thames embankment. Colonel Mapleson has been offered the management, on condition that he make London his permanent residence. He is indisposed to accept unless allowed an occasional leave of absence for personal supervision of his American enterprises.

NOTES.

Prince Napoleon, Plon-Plon, has privately sold his household effects at Prangins, dismissed his servants and closed the Prangins house.

"Plunger" Walton has made arrangements with his English agents to settle with his turf creditors.

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE.
In Debility.
Dr. W. H. HOLCOMBE, New Orleans, La., says: "I found it an admirable remedy for debilitated state of the system, produced by the wear and tear of the nervous energies."

SALE OF ENGINE HOUSES—AT A REGULAR meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners, held February 1, 1884, an order was made to dispose of by public auction engine houses Nos. 3, 5 and 6, formerly used by volunteer department. In conformity with said order, the Fire Commissioners will, on the 1st day of April, 1884, at the hour of 10 A. M., at office of Commissioners, 24 Union block, sell at public auction to the highest bidder or bidders for cash (U. S. gold coin) the following property: Engine house and lot known as Company No. 3, situate south side of Washington street, between Second and Third; house and lot known as Company No. 5, situate east side Fourth street, between Mill and Montgomery streets; house and lot known as Couch 6, situate on north side of G street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets. Subject to following (Sec. 10 senate bill 124, legislative assembly 1882): "That all sales of real property made by Fire Commissioners shall be subject to the approval of the Common Council, evidenced by a majority vote." Upon such sales being made by Commissioners and approved by Common Council, the Mayor and auditor and clerk of the city of Portland shall execute, acknowledge and deliver to purchaser or purchasers good and sufficient deeds of conveyance.

CITY.

ASSAULT ON A CHINAMAN.—About 9 o'clock yesterday morning yells and cries of fear [illegible] in the vicinity of Second and Alder, accompanied by the unintelligible jabber [illegible] any kind of excitement in [illegible] The street quickly filled up [illegible] the center [illegible] of the Mongolians in the center [illegible] intelligent looking and [illegible] Chinaman, who was attempting to defend himself as best he could with his bare hands against the assaults of three others. Two of them were armed with iron bars, and the third with a large hatchet or what would more properly be called a short handled broad axe. Under the combined attacks of these three the assailed one finally succumbed and fell to the ground. At this the three ruffians dropped their weapons and forced their way through the crowd and in a few moments were soon out of sight of any who might recognize them. The policemen who [illegible] to the scene had nothing to do [illegible] the arrival but pick up the wounded man, [illegible] with the weapons of his assailants and convey them all to the city jail. A physician was summoned and one of the Chinamen—who put in an appearance just then—was pressed into service as a nurse. The cuts were all about the Chinaman's head and were very serious and bled profusely. After the wounds were dressed the patient [illegible] like an Egyptian mummy so numerous and [illegible] bandages about his head. It is [illegible] may be fractured, and the chances [illegible] are about evenly divided. Shortly after the fracas a Chinese merchant saw [illegible] the street and pointed him out to officer Putnam, who arrested him with [illegible]. Later in the day another was [illegible] brought to the city jail. The wounded Chinaman [illegible] identified both as having [illegible]. Their names are Ah Lew and Ah [illegible]. They were admitted to bail in the sum of [illegible], which was promptly furnished by Lee [illegible], a prominent Chinese merchant. He did not [illegible] deposited in the police office $400 in [illegible]. He claimed the assassins are highbinders [illegible] to murder Ah Gee.

[illegible] BRANCH.—Traffic on the Palouse [illegible] of the Northern Pacific is still suspended. [illegible] knowing when repairs will be made [illegible] still covers the track for four miles [illegible] nature can clear it by evaporation [illegible] this is very slow. Negotiations are [illegible] New York to lease this division to the [illegible], but what steps toward a conclusion [illegible] made, or whether any definite course has [illegible] decided on, is not known here. In either case [illegible] within there will be no traffic for a [illegible] a new line must be built on higher [illegible] the lake. Merchants of Colfax [illegible] do not know whether to delay [illegible] until repairs are made or to ship via Snake [illegible] thence by train to Colfax. The [illegible] is almost, [illegible] $2.50 a ton, and this is no small item. [illegible] reasonable assurance that the road [illegible] running order by the 1st of May at [illegible] of early goods would be delayed till that [illegible] such merchandise as is urgently [illegible] should be sent via Almota. The feeling now [illegible] of waiting at least two weeks to see what [illegible] with regard to leasing the road will [illegible].

[illegible] MAY.—The little steamer which bears this name is having a pack of [illegible] sayings goes. She was originally [illegible] Ingersoll but even changing [illegible] not change the fate that seemed [illegible]. Though well built and furnished with first-class engines, she has never been [illegible] a source of expense to her owners. No [illegible] one to lease her, and she has laid idle [illegible] time, during the greater portion of [illegible] has had possession. She has been [illegible] mortgaged and resold and retransferred [illegible] hard to tell just who [illegible]. In order to simplify [illegible] persons who hold liens against the [illegible] the U. S. District court as a [illegible] to make a final sale by which a [illegible] clear title and the creditors [illegible] portion of the money due them. P. O. [illegible] and E. Sorenson are among [illegible] upon the vessel.

[illegible] CARD.—Under the O. R. & N. Co. a [illegible] card, which goes into effect next Sunday, [illegible] train reaches The Dalles at 1 [illegible], Pendleton 9:25, Walla Walla 9 [illegible]. Passengers for Meacham remain over [illegible] Pendleton, leaving next morning at 6. West-bound trains leave Dayton 1 A. M., Walla Walla 2:55, [illegible], Umatilla 6:25, The Dalles 10:45 and [illegible] Portland 4 P. M., crossing by the O. & [illegible]. The new time card of the Northern Pacific [illegible] received here yet, but figuring on old [illegible] bound train ought to reach Spokane [illegible] A. M. The emigrant train will arrive [illegible] and leave at 1:30 P. M. Passenger trains daily, including Sunday, on the main [illegible] to Pendleton, and the emigrant [illegible] every day.

[illegible] WEATHER.—The number of beautiful [illegible] we have had this year is remarkable [illegible] of weather on the week's rest day was [illegible] been wonderfully kind and yesterday [illegible] pleasant weather of the season. Every one [illegible] the tempted out of doors. The sun [illegible] bright and warm, though there were fleecy [illegible] the horizon. A gentle wind prevailed [illegible] to make light wraps desirable. Churches [illegible] morning and evening, and all the [illegible] were largely attended. About the only [illegible] indulged in was boating. The river [illegible] Swan Island was dotted with [illegible] and yachts from morning till night and [illegible] the several boat houses had to wait [illegible].

[illegible].—Last night Mrs H M Riggs [illegible] the Refuge Home to attend praise service [illegible] Woman's Christian Temperance Union and [illegible] horse and buggy hitched to a post in front [illegible]. When she came out, the rig was missing [illegible] reported the loss to the police authorities [illegible] later William Owens was seen [illegible] headquarters with the equipage, [illegible] at the corner of Second and Oak by [illegible]. Mrs. Riggs drove home much [illegible], and Owens spent the night ruminating [illegible] chances of going to the penitentiary.

[illegible].—Communication between Portland and Albina has been greatly improved by reason of the competition between the ferries Albina and [illegible]. They keep each other busy as they [illegible] landings on each side the new boat [illegible] possessing the advantage [illegible] accommodations. The steamer Twins [illegible] Stark street to Albina does a lively [illegible] and eastward are the Sellwood and Latona [illegible] this city and Oregon City. The [illegible] by these crafts below and above this city [illegible] lively appearance.

[illegible] MARCH.—From March 1 to March [illegible] emigrants were ticketed at St. Paul [illegible] Portland. Arrivals by the Northern [illegible] west of Spokane Falls during the [illegible] over 3000. Immigration from San Francisco [illegible] the month was a trifle over 1500. This [illegible] the month for the northwest coast [illegible] who arrived at Puget sound and [illegible] by teams into Eastern Oregon and [illegible]. If March brought us 6000 addi[illegible] 12,000 for April and May is not too [illegible].

[illegible] FUNERAL.—At the Mariners' [illegible] the last rites over the body of the [illegible] were said by Chaplain Stubbs [illegible] attendance of his old friends in [illegible], river men generally, and his newer [illegible] R. & N. Co. The remains were [illegible] River cemetery and laid to rest there.

His Theme: "The Perfected Christian the Noblest Work of God."

Yesterday morning the Rev. L. W. Hayhurst preached his farewell sermon at the First Baptist church to a large congregation. During his short residence in this city Mr. Hayhurst has won a high reputation as a theologian, and his every sermon has evinced deep thought. Six sermons delivered during the winter on the "Lord's Prayer" merit a permanent place in religious literature. His topic yesterday was "The Perfect Christian." The following synopsis shows but feebly its force and eloquence.

An honest man is the noblest work of God is untrue. [illegible] the Christian [illegible] honesty and essential to the highest humanity. Philanthropy is nobler than honesty, and the [illegible] of God [illegible] than [illegible] The teachings of Christ reveal [illegible] a perfect man [illegible] realization the grand [illegible] known [illegible] A man redeemed from evil and made perfect in holiness, brought to full stature in Christ Jesus, properly called a Son of God, made in his likeness and fit for Paradise and eternal blessedness, is [illegible] result [illegible] to Christ the redeemer.

In this work God sits as a refiner of silver [illegible] away the dross until his own likeness [illegible] his work. The crude ore is replaced by the refined metal.

In this work the labor of spiritual life with its [illegible] possibilities is developed by stages and brought at last to the full unfolding of those [illegible] capabilities that belong to the spiritual man. This work is God's, and a singular illustration of the working of his mighty power. The means he employs accord with the natural qualities of the subject and with the ends intended.

On the one hand man in God's hand is like clay in the hands of the potter—simply the recipient of the divine manipulation, and the turning of the hand [illegible] the turning of the hand of the [illegible].

In this respect the subject of God's grace is rather made [illegible] prompted by motives [illegible] and approached [illegible] determined in those volitions [illegible] and his activities [illegible] the teachings of God. His sense of peril is aroused and he is called to hatred and avoidance of sin [illegible] awful results in life, and is still more dreadful [illegible] after death [illegible] has power to cast into hell.

His hope of good is appealed to, and happiness in time and bliss and glory in eternity are set before him [illegible] of a well ordered life.

[illegible] appeals are made to his sense of justice and of right, and the holy law whose command [illegible] lays the [illegible] hand of its legitimate claims upon his conscience and [illegible] His heart is summoned to gratitude of kindest warmth by the gospel revelations of the goodness of God exhausting the resources of all sufficiency in the redemption which is in Jesus Christ and the cross of Christ—the altar of Moriah—becomes to him the richest cure of kindness incarnate and [illegible].

And highest appeal is the one made to his appreciation of the good by divine disclosure of a holy God and a perfect Christ as the fit object of his purest most enthusiastic and most transforming personal affections. The love of Christ as chiefest among ten thousand and all together lovely enthralls him and leads him in the train of His triumph as a glad captive of the conqueror of death and hell.

The end of it all is that God's work on man and in him fittingly makes him fit to be named a jewel of the diadem of his triumphant redeemer, and the gospel of Christ presents [illegible] results and means [illegible] of all human philosophy [illegible] whether of the seventh before or of the nineteenth century after Christ. Here, then, is our hope of a perfected humanity.

THE EAST SIDE.

REPUBLICAN CLUB ORGANIZED.

Republicans of [illegible] precinct to the number of nearly forty assembled at Shute's hall Saturday evening for the purpose of organizing for the coming campaign and effected a permanent organization by the election of the following officers: President, Geo G Smith; vice presidents, Wm Halfpenny, J M [illegible] and J W Kern; recording secretary, H O Souther; executive committee, Jas H Sprague, Wm Halfpenny and Collin Thompson; [illegible] J W Oxt[illegible] E B Phillips and F A Neider; mark sergeant-at-arms, Jas McGrew, Sr. The executive committee were directed to draft a constitution and by-laws for the government of the club to be submitted at the next meeting. The meeting adjourned to meet the same evening two weeks hence.

NOTES.

State of the Weather—Breaking up of the Ice on the Lake—Launch of the Steamboat Four d'Alene—Great Rush to the Mines

COEUR D'ALENE CITY, March [illegible]

There is an old proverb which to wo[illegible] Distance lends enchantment to the view, and in no single instance is the adjective more applicable than in the case of your humble correspondent. I have a few facts to note pertaining to what was [illegible] the public mind from the northwestern portion of the Rocky mountains to the oldest city in the Union, caused by the reported rich discoveries of gold in the Coeur d'Alene mountains of Idaho near the 47th parallel of latitude and distant 40 miles from [illegible] the traverse [illegible] How much reliance can be placed upon these reports [illegible] circulated [illegible] time only [illegible] for more [illegible] However that the rush [illegible] by way of [illegible] reckon the line of the N. P. R. R. [illegible] is constantly increasing. [illegible] I venture to say by the middle of July [illegible] will inhabit this [illegible] of the [illegible] within a radius of fifty [illegible] This Eagle City [illegible] have suggested to [illegible] which [illegible] route is to take—whether to take the [illegible] morning for Coeur d'Alene City [illegible] same [illegible] rail to Fort Sherman [illegible] there [illegible] twenty five miles to Eagle City over [illegible] dangerous and precipitous mountain [illegible] Hundreds of adventurers have made the trip [illegible] successfully whom [illegible].

[illegible] sustained by heavy hardships [illegible] their backs and drawing heavy [illegible] behind them. The Mullan road west is the Mission and [illegible] Eagle City direct has not been [illegible] popular with the seekers this winter more than [illegible] and [illegible] the quarter [illegible] otherwise [illegible] the [illegible] sleigh from Evolution has [illegible] winter and [illegible] Eagle City is twenty miles over [illegible] trail though [illegible] have [illegible] on this unusually severe winter. Freighting from Railroad [illegible] by the Mullan route [illegible] at about [illegible] the [illegible] Eagle City [illegible].

Breaking up of the ice on Lake Coeur d'Alene [illegible] a few days ago [illegible] usual [illegible] boat [illegible] the inhabitants [illegible] upon its [illegible] shore. The lake [illegible] pleasure to skaters and hunters [illegible] ter [illegible] lots in Coeur d'Alene City [illegible] selling at from $75 to $200 each and buildings are going up very fast though timber even in a great timber country like this is scarce. Carpenters [illegible] wages are $4 to $4.50 per day, and good board can be had at the [illegible] for $7 per week. Tony Tubbs, founder of Coeur d'Alene City, is a young man of energy and enterprise and is engaged in several industrial pursuits. He made a good investment when he bought [illegible] of government land a short time since where now stands the town.

The launching of the beautiful sternwheel steamboat Coeur d'Alene is a great event in the history of northern Idaho. This elegant river boat, which has engaged the labor of a large force of mechanics all winter, has at last received the finishing stroke of the hammer in the hands of her skillful engineer, Henry Pope. She was launched this morning within 100 feet of her wharf and warehouse, and directly in front of the exchange and [illegible] hotel and within [illegible] shot of the military headquarters of the post. Crowds of anxious spectators were on hand long before the hour designated to enjoy the novel scene. A number of invited guests [illegible] availed themselves the pleasure of going on board and under the supervision of her [illegible] J. B. S[illegible] born and the able management of her foreman, Mr. James Hanrahan, when the signal was given she glided down the ways into her future element as gracefully as a swan [illegible]. [illegible] feet in length. [illegible] are 340 horse power [illegible] has ample room [illegible] her deck [illegible] 100 passengers. Her cost will approximate [illegible] $12,000. She will make her trial trip in a few days up the lake and river, returning the afternoon. Her first freight and passenger trip will be made on or about the tenth of April and to [illegible] the many who for days and weeks [illegible] at Coeur d'Alene anxiously awaiting her final completion. She will make [illegible] miles of Eagle City as the driftwood [illegible] obstructions in the river are cleared away. This is [illegible] a [illegible] of news of much import [illegible] who have [illegible] to and from [illegible] [illegible] at the [illegible] Mission, and in which event the [illegible] distance of a [illegible] 40 miles [illegible] would have to be made by land [illegible] before reaching Eagle City. [illegible] obviated as above [illegible].

Fare and freight rates will [illegible] tably by the company. The boat will make daily trips and the owners [illegible] having ample accommodations for both freight and passengers to the [illegible] of destination.

Eagle City is the headquarters for all mining and other important transactions. Town property is held very high, the houses or rather [illegible] are nearly all of rude logs. [illegible] but [illegible] abundant [illegible] what is furnished by the [illegible] of which [illegible] worth 20 cents per foot. Two saw mills will soon be constructed which will afford opportunity. Considerable strife and litigation will spring up between the claimants of city property, as well as the holders of mining interests and some of those who [illegible] men graduates at the bar of justice would do well to pay Eagle City a friendly visit.

Living is high there at present, as a single meal costs $1.50 and three syllables comprise the bill of fare, viz. pork and beans.

The Deputy Chief Avoids the Question by Customary Abuse, and tries to put Johnson on Trial.

The committee appointed by the council to investigate the charges made against the deputy chief of police by policeman Johnson met at the council chamber Saturday evening.

Owing to [illegible] of some of the members it was not [illegible] until 8 o'clock [illegible] meeting was called to order.

Hon [illegible] appeared as counsel for Johnson and W. W. [illegible] for the deputy chief.

The communication of the policeman to the council [illegible] that the deputy [illegible] investigated [illegible] chief [illegible] on the council [illegible] several policemen who, [illegible] answer of the deputy chief to the charges [illegible] was [illegible] on April [illegible] denying the charges was read and an appeal [illegible] to [illegible] Johnson [illegible] investigation [illegible].

Frank Vaughan was called and corroborated the testimony of Nat Baldwin.

John Parr then gave a detailed account of meeting McKennon and of taking his watch [illegible] in the presence of witnesses and leaving it with a saloon keeper who [illegible] the owner. The saloon keeper was called and [illegible] statement.

Judge M[illegible] said he [illegible] Captain Hart take [illegible] and [illegible] that he [illegible] ask Captain Hart [illegible] deputy chief who [illegible] had not reported that [illegible] He replied that he did not think there was any harm in it. The chief had ordered him to take Johnson's star when he came [illegible] thieves on the [illegible].

[illegible] asked Capt Hart some questions as to [illegible] this responsibility of not reporting such matters to the deputy chief.

Captain Hart replied that [illegible] and [illegible] not [illegible] his [illegible].

Captain Hart [illegible] Johnson [illegible] for being drunk. It was not [illegible].

Sawyer, [illegible] convicted of the theft [illegible] the man Alvis [illegible] Sam Neville's dive several weeks ago, has finally been released from custody upon bonds. The witness, Alvis, who has been detained in jail to insure his presence when needed, was deprived of his liberty by the authority of the court. It was thought to [illegible] a [illegible] the probabilities are that Alvis will [illegible] to have the county [illegible] who robbed him will [illegible] his [illegible] liberty.

[illegible] PUNISHMENT.

James Johnson, the scoundrel who was recently arrested for his [illegible] in connection with [illegible] has been sentenced by Justice Davis to serve twenty five days in the county jail. There was a desire upon the part of every one who was conversant with the facts in the case to send [illegible] to the penitentiary, but the district attorney could not bring the offense before the grand jury because the law [illegible] The fellow at once could only be [illegible] a simple assault and for this he was punished to the fullest extent of the law.

[illegible] SHOOTING IN JACKSON COUNTY.

William Caldwell was shot and instantly killed by a man by the name of Burbank at Medford Thursday, says the Roseburg Plaindealer. It seems that [illegible] Burbank owed Caldwell [illegible] attacked young Burbank and kicked him very badly. Subsequently the father of the boy, meeting Caldwell, asked [illegible] anything and received the reply that he did, naming the amount. He [illegible] then put his hand in his [illegible] when Caldwell [illegible] "Do you want to shoot it out?" at the same time drawing his revolver. Burbank quickly drew his pistol and fired, the ball [illegible] just above the heart and passing entirely through Caldwell's body and striking the ground back of where he was standing. Caldwell lived only a few minutes. Burbank gave himself up. What the Papers Say of the Matter—Frelinghuysen Censured

NEW YORK, March [illegible]—[Special.]—The Star (the Tammany organ) says, editorially: Sargent, [illegible] was [illegible]. He was forced into unfriendly and strained relations with the German government by following out the strict line of his duty, for which he could not be held personally responsible by our government. The responsibility for [illegible] popularity in Berlin rested solely with Frelinghuysen. The case was such that a proper regard demanded the withdrawal of the very man who had become objectionable through the indiscretion of the secretary of state. Frelinghuysen has been allowed long enough to play fast and loose with American dignity by leaving Sargent to breast the storm of obloquy, insult and defamation raised in the German press so that the action of transferring him to another equally good and honorable post does not come a day too soon.

A MISUNDERSTANDING.

NEW YORK, March [illegible]—Special.—A democratic evening paper's Washington special says: While no one can be found who remembers that Frelinghuysen said in so many words that the transfer was at Sargent's request, a number of senators with whom he conversed on the subject recollect that the impression he conveyed to them and they voted to confirm him with that understanding of it. If it be true that Sargent wants to remain in Berlin and fight it out with Bismarck there are certain senators who will try to have his wish gratified. It appears that Frelinghuysen's idea of the proper way to treat Bismarck is closing the Berlin legation until our representative there shall be treated with due respect.

ANOTHER OPINION.

NEW YORK, March 30.—[Special.]—The Herald says: The administration is evidently uneasy about the effect of Sargent's removal from Berlin while under Bismarck's fire. Its organs are spreading the report that the change was made at Mr. Sargent's request. The latest reports from Berlin indicate that he not only did not ask to be removed, but is decidedly averse to going to St. Petersburg. In this view the conduct of our government is not only pusillanimous in the extreme, but a gross insult to our minister.

THE CINCINNATI RIOT.

Particulars of the Mob's Mad Assault upon the Jail.

DEADLY EFFECT OF THE MILITIA'S FIRE.

The Angry Crowd Repulsed and the Prisoners Saved—Berner's Escape from the Train at Loveland, and his Recapture.

From the Sunday Oregonian.

CINCINNATI, March 29.—12:45 A. M.—The jail has been fired by the mob, and the crowd on the street say they will cut the hose to prevent the fire department from extinguishing the flames. The mob seem to think that a wholesale holocaust is the only means of accomplishing their purpose.

The fire engines responded to the alarm, but after much difficulty in getting near the jail found that the alarm was false. It was occasioned by a bonfire built near the jail. As the building is mainly composed of stone and iron, it would be difficult to fire it from without.

It now appears that there was an actual conflict between the mob and the military, though it is still considered most likely that the wounds of the police and the military were inflicted by the fire of the latter. When the inner door between the reception room and the cell room was broken down, the militia fired at the mob, and Lew Kent, a laborer and member of the mob, was shot and killed. This seemed to break the spirit of the mob, though they did not retire hastily. A number of brickbats were thrown by them at the soldiers and the police, but generally there was not much bitterness of feeling displayed by either side. The greatly superior strength of the jail over the unarmed and impromptu mob was so manifest when the former opened fire that it would have been utter folly to make any further effort. Some twenty-five or thirty men were arrested in the jail.

The jailer's residence in the jail, which was entered by a portion of the mob, was rudely handled; windows were broken and furniture smashed. From this a number made their way to the kitchen, and thence to the lower corridor. After the relinquishment of the main effort to get at the prisoner the mob lingered outside, throwing stones and brickbats at the windows.

MORE FIRING BY THE MILITIA.

1:45 A. M.—News just comes from the jail that the mob is not defeated yet. They have broken into the armory of the Veteran regiment, and taken the guns. More firing is being done at the jail.

2:15.—Newton Cobb of Manchester, Ohio, was shot in the shoulder by a soldier through a jail window. Cobb was a bystander on the sidewalk. The crowd claims the soldiers are firing unnecessarily upon outsiders who are merely lookers on. On the other hand the soldiers dread an effort to burn the place or blow it up, by rolling coal oil barrels into the basement, and justify themselves in clearing the sidewalks on that account. It is said that a number of women and spectators have been hurt with random shots. Firing is still heard at intervals. The mob is now looking for ammunition, with a prospect of success.

The First regiment armory has been guarded for three nights, in anticipation of this affair, but the Veteran regiment, of which Sheriff Hawkins is Colonel, did not take the same precaution.

For the purpose of getting more arms and ammunition the mob is now breaking into the extensive gun store of B. Kittredge & Co., the largest in the city. In a few minutes a greatly superior force to the militia will be about the jail, and serious results must follow. Some are talking about getting the cannon at Music hall.

LIST OF THE WOUNDED.

2:30 A. M.—The firing by the soldiers from the windows of the jail has been terribly destructive. The following wounded have been gathered into a drug store at Court and Walnut, and at a hotel near by: James Green, dying; Walter E. Fay, dying; James Turk, mortally wounded; F. Bochuer, bad wound in the thigh; Ed. Dullef, shot in the leg. These were all bystanders, and there is growing a bitter feeling against the soldiers. The mob have taken all the arms they want from Kittridge's store, including a small cannon.

3 A. M.—Loud reports from the vicinity of the jail indicate either that the mob is firing cannon or that barrels of coal oil are being exploded. These were rolled into the lower part of the jail some time ago. The mob has organized and marched up Main street just now, with fife and drum. Firing still continues, with a prospect of a bloody battle.

3:15 A. M.—The firing by cannon was by the mob, about fifty of the leaders of which said they were thirsting for revenge. It does not appear that they have produced any effect. The police had full control of the jail, and the greater portion of the mob has dispersed. It is thought now that the work for the night is over.

Joseph Stern, a member of the patrol wagon, who was shot, is dead.

A CURIOUS CROWD ABOUT THE JAIL.

CINCINNATI, March 29.—1:30 P. M.—There is still quite a large crowd around the jail, but it is collected there by curiosity. The military are still on guard, and no further attack is anticipated.

Following is an additional list of those killed and wounded last night: Private Edward Murthert, slightly; Private Herman Rose, slightly; Private Henry, slightly; Private Harry Rotting, seriously; Private Charles Gibbons, slightly; Policeman Phil Nunn, seriously; Arthur Bentiller, arm shattered; Henry Yeiger, slightly; John Griffith, fatally; Martin Rafferty, fatally; O. L. Bartling, seriously; —— Lawton, slightly; —— Donnellson, slightly; Mike Holle, slightly; Adolphe Busser, slightly; Cyrus Johnson, slightly; —— Reid, slightly; J. A. Leonard, slightly; Jack Berryman, slightly; William McMinner, slightly; Mary Smith, fatally; George Miller, seriously. A man from Virginia, seriously wounded, refused to give his name.

A DETAILED ACCOUNT OF THE RIOT.

As the meeting at Music hall adjourned last night the attention of the people was attracted by the shout of a young man who cried out "To the jail! Come, follow me, and hang Berner!" Although there might have been an intention to organize a mob this was the first time it found vent in a decided expression. The cry was soon taken up and spread rapidly. The crowd around the jail soon reached 10,000 people. There seemed to be about 200 men in the lead, who took the initiative in all steps but said little.

As soon as it was learned in the jail that the mob was outside Sheriff Hawkins called up Fire Marshall Barker by telephone, and the riot alarm was sounded. The sheriff and his posse made all preparations to repel the attack.

On the way to the jail the mob secured a long, heavy scantling, to be used as a battering ram. It then began operations on the north side door, and knocked a hole long enough to admit a man's body, through which the mob crowded thick and fast, and about fifty mounted the stairs. They were met by a detail of police and the sheriff and forced back into the jail office.

AN ENTRANCE EFFECTED.

By this time the mob outside had procured a long, heavy board, and placing it on the iron railing in front of the jail pushed it through the window into the second story. With this they broke out the entire sash and the inside shutters and scrambled into the apartment of Jailor Brady. This successful move encouraged the crowd, who made a rush for the south door leading to the street from the second story, which is here level with the pavement. This soon gave way and the mob went through in great numbers. The sheriff's force consisted of thirteen men. When the mob entered these withdrew hastily into the jail proper, leaving between them and the mob the heavy grated iron doors which separated the reception room from the cell room. This was at the foot of the stairway leading up to the cell room. The reception room was jammed, and the mob kept calling "Give us Berner!" "Give us Johnson!" and so on through the list of murderers confined in the jail. There seemed to be no leader. Finally, a tall, muscular negro began to give orders and the mob quickly obeyed. Space was cleared and a plank used as a battering ram was brought to bear against the iron door. Behind the door stood Sheriff Hawkins and his men, with drawn revolvers. The sheriff said, calmly, that it meant death to enter that door. The crowd wavered a moment and hesitated. Then the colored leader gave the word, "Swing the plank!" He was instantly obeyed and the gate trembled, and a mighty shout went up. The second stroke from the battering ram made the gate weaker perceptibly; the third loosened its bolts, and it flew open.

THE MOB REPULSED.

Sheriff Hawkins had instructed his men not to fire, as he did not wish to shed blood. He attempted to address the mob, but they flew up by him up the winding iron stairway to the cells. They sought Berner, but soon discovered that he was moved. Then they went to Johnson's cell, one of the murderers of the Taylor family at Avondale. The horrified prisoner suffered more than death as he looked on the determined men on the outside. A powerful plank was brought up to batter down the door of the cell but the small space prevented its use with effect. Besides, a deputy sheriff caught hold of the plank and prevented its being used. Meantime Chief of Police Reilly, hearing the men were in the jail entered through the court house and through a tunnel from it to the interior of the jail. With this combined force the men were put out of the corridors about the cells and the mob seemed to be repulsed. Not a shot was fired up to this time by the forces within the jail.

A DESPERATE STRUGGLE.

The stairway was again in possession of the sheriff's forces, and a struggle began for it or the gate. The colored ringleader was seized by Lieutenant Dunn, struck on the head and dragged inside. Then the gate was closed. Several others were arrested about the same time. The battering ram was broken in two, and served as a brace for the gate. The mob seemed repulsed, and the story went out, spreading through the outside crowd, only to inflame them to more serious effort. Efforts were redoubled at all the entrances, and at the southern gate to the jail yard, which was broken.

Meantime Sheriff Hawkins sent an order to Colonel Hunt, commanding the First regiment of militia, to report to him in the jail with all the men possible. Only about forty men were on duty, and these went to the jail, passing through the courthouse and the tunnel already mentioned.

BLOODSHED.

Here occurred the first bloodshed. The farther end of the tunnel was guarded by Officers Phil Munn and Von Seggern. As the soldiers approached by threes, with guns pointed, Officer Von Seggern threw up his hands and shouted, "For God's sake, don't shoot here! You will kill your friends!" Without taking the warning the command, "Fire" was given, and a volley went roaring through the tunnel. Officer Munn fell, pierced by four balls. Von Seggern was shot in the side of the head. Several of the militia were shot by their own guns.

This volley had the effect to clear the jail, but for two hours thereafter efforts were made on the outside to destroy the whole building. A barrel of coal oil was poured down into the lower part of the jail and set on fire, but the officers within managed to extinguish it. A carpenter's shop furnished some wood, and that was also fired, but as the jail was mainly stone and iron this effort was futile.

The crowd threw boulders and fired pistols promiscuously at the windows, and the militia, meantime, fired from the windows at the crowd. Sheriff Hawkins tried to control the firing by ordering that not more than one man should fire at a time, and then only to frighten, but not to kill. The men were uncontrollable, and fired at the crowd, doing deadly work.

Later the crowd broke into the Veteran armory and Kittridge's gun store, and got arms, but by the time this was done the crowd had thinned out so that no further serious attempt was made, and at half-past 3 this morning quiet was restored.

BERNER'S ESCAPE FROM THE TRAIN.

The train boy, who was standing on the platform at the time, says Berner walked round the car and entered it again from the rear. Meantime the wild mob had discovered their mistake, and were even more infuriated than before. Berner walked about two-thirds of the way through the car, when one of the deputies who had seen him jump from the train cried, "There he goes! Now catch him." Immediately Berner started on a run, and again jumped from the train, which by this time had started to pull out from the station. One of the deputies ran after him, while the one who had been mistaken for Berner was still held by the crowd. Joe Moses and the third deputy remained on the train.

Train men do not think Berner was captured. They believe that after jumping from the train the second time he ran between the Little Miami train and the second train, which was standing on the track, and after thus evading the mob escaped to the fields. The train boy, a brakeman and the conductor verify these statements.

While the first section of the train, the one that had been attacked at Loveland, pulled into Morrow, another mob was waiting to capture the prisoner. This mob was composed of 150 or 200 men, only a part of whom were masked. Before the train stopped, they climbed on the engine, into the cars and on the steps, eager to get possession of the murderer. Some of the men attempted to force the engineer to stop the train before it got into town in order that they could swing Berner from a bridge near by. They hunted through the passenger, baggage and sleeping cars, completing their search just as the train pulled away from town. Morrow is fourteen miles northeast of Loveland. Moses and the deputy got off here, and were so excited that they could hardly speak.

THE MOB AT LOVELAND.

COLUMBUS, March 29.—Train men and passengers who arrived here after midnight give the following account of the mob at Loveland, and the efforts to get Berner, the murderer, to Columbus. Two deputies with Berner drove from Cincinnati over to Linwood and there took the accommodation train to Loveland. This part of the journey was made without accident. Joe Moses was then to go to the Little Miami depot and quietly board the train for Columbus, and join the two deputies and Berner at Loveland. When the Little Miami train passed into Loveland Berner was placed in the car next to the sleeper, before the train had come to a full stop. The two deputies sat near him, but did not have him fastened to them. Joe Moses sat in the next car, and in advance. As the train came to a stop a howling mob of nearly 300 men made a dash for the cars, yelling "There he is; catch him!" Some of the men were masked, while a part of them were not. They climbed in all the cars, but most of them broke for the one in which Moses was seated. One of the deputies who had been detained with Berner sprang from his seat and started for the front car. The crowd thought it was Berner trying to escape, and pouncing on him bore him to the ground. He was choked, beaten and almost killed. Before the mistake was discovered Berner had sprung from his seat, but in attempting to jump from the platform fell headlong to the ground. It was doubtless this accident that prevented the crowd from recognizing him.

THE WILD SCENES REPEATED.

The second section of the Little Miami, which starts from Cincinnati about fifteen minutes after the first, witnessed almost the same scenes that had been enacted before. At Loveland a wild mob was still yelling and searching for Berner. Many men rushed upon the train, thinking perhaps that an attempt would be made to smuggle him through. As the train pulled on cries were heard saying the search would be continued till daylight, when the fugitive would be easily recognized.

At Morrow a mob was at the depot, waiting for the second section, and when it arrived the same frenzied effort was made to discover the object of their search. In spite of the excitement there was no attempt to delay the trains, and they came in on time.

Passengers and trainmen on the second section gave the thrilling accounts that were given before, and stated that the excitement was increasing.

Colonel Hunt telegraphed the governor to be in readiness, and his excellency will remain over Sunday, so as to call for more troops if necessary. Colonel Hunday made a requisition on the adjutant general 5000 rounds of ball cartridges, and they were sent to Cincinnati on the train.

Passengers on the morning and noon trains from Cincinnati state that the most intense excitement exists all along the way, large crowds being gathered at the stations. Threats are made against the deputy sheriffs that they would suffer if they did not succeed, in their scouting about the country, to produce Berner, or show that he has been put out of the way.

BERNER'S PROBABLE FATE.

CINCINNATI, March 29.—There was a report on the streets this morning that Berner had been recaptured and hanged at Loveland. This proved groundless. One story is that Berner, in running from the crowd at Loveland, ran into the Miami river and was drowned. This is not improbable, as the night was very dark, and no trace was found of him. The whole country is being scoured by officers and citizens, and if he is found alive he will certainly be lynched.

COLONEL HUNT'S REPORT.

Colonel Hunt, commander of the military, gives this version of the mob: "When we endeavored to pass through the tunnel we found it occupied by a mob, who, just as soon as the two leading files made their appearance, began firing on us, and three or four of the leading men fell, badly wounded. A deputy sheriff who was with us ordered the men to return the fire, which they did, and cleared the tunnel. In every instance the men fired under orders. Most of the gunshot wounds came from the indiscriminate firing of the mob." This account of the fire is widely contradicted by Officer Von Seggern, whose story has been told already. He begged the soldiers not to shoot.

Nothing has yet been heard of Berner. A deputy sheriff left Loveland this morning in a carriage, going toward Cincinnati, giving rise to the suspicion that Berner had come here, to hide, but that is mere guessing. Crowds in the vicinity of the court house and the jail continue large, though the police and soldiers prohibit all access to the front or sides of the jail, or to the streets for a square in every direction. Apprehension of trouble to-night grows stronger. It is rumored that Campbell county, Kentucky, will send 800 men to the rescue of the rioters arrested last night and still in jail.

DESCRIPTION OF THE JAIL.

CINCINNATI, March 29.—All day changing crowds have filled the streets as near to the jail as they were permitted to come. The jail is a circular building, with two wings extending north and south. It faces east on Sycamore street. The yard is inclosed with a high stone wall, surmounted by an iron fence. The eastern front has doors leading into the residence of the jailer, which open on the sidewalk. The entrance proper to the jail is reached by stone winding stairs, leading down to the area twelve feet below the sidewalk. Here was the beginning of the attack last night. The crowd could surge up to the doors of the jailer's house, and could fill the area in front of the lower door, which they battered open with a heavy sawed beam, obtained from a new building near by. The same beam and half a dozen more were carried into the jail to-day, and used as props to secure all the outside doors. The jail office and the jailer's residence have scarcely an unbroken article about them.

THE MILITIA CALLED OUT.

COLUMBUS, March 29.—The riot alarm has been calling the military together for half an hour. The Fourteenth regiment is resting on arms, waiting for a special train to Cincinnati. Four regiments, with headquarters at Dayton, have also been ordered by the governor to fall in for orders.

BERNER'S CRIME.

CINCINNATI, March 29.—The history of the crime for which Berner was sentenced to twenty years is as follows: William H. Kiel was murdered in his stable last February by Berner, who stood behind the door, and when his victim entered smashed his head with a hammer. He robbed him of $400, put the body into the wagon of the murdered man and hauled it off and dumped it into Mill creek where it was found a few days later.

BERNER RECAPTURED.

CINCINNATI, March 29.—Berner was caught at Foster's crossing about 2:30, and is in charge of officers, who will take him to Columbus.

CINCINNATI, March 29.—Berner was taken by train from Foster's Crossing to Miamiville, in the direction of Cincinnati, where he was transferred to the Columbus accommodation train and locked up in an express car. He passed Loveland and Morrow all right, and should be by this time (7 P. M.) in Columbus.

ENGLAND.

ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS OF PRINCE LEOPOLD'S DEATH.

LONDON, March 29.—When the queen first heard of the duke's death she was seized with a paroxysm of weeping. Gen. Sir Henry Ponsonby informed the Prince of Wales at Marlborough house of his brother's death. The Duke of Albany fell on the steps of the club house at 6:30 Thursday evening. He was well enough afterwards to write a dispatch to the duchess stating that he had had a fall, and possibly would not be able to leave for England on that day. The duke struck on his head when he fell. Dr. Role, who was sleeping in the duke's room, was startled about 2:30 A. M., by the patient's heavy breathing. He approached the bedside, and saw that the duke was in a fit, and immediately summoned Capt. Percival. The crisis was of short duration. In six minutes the duke expired in the arms of Capt. Percival. His end was apparently painless. An escort will start with the body to-day and arrive at London Monday evening.

LONDON, March 29.—The prince of Wales has gone to Cannes to accompany home the remains of his brother. The meeting of the queen with the duchess was most affecting. As she entered the park she was unable to restrain tears at the sight of her son's desolated home. She was weeping bitterly when she met the duchess.

THE POPE WILL LEAVE ROME.

LONDON, March 29.—The Paris correspondent of the Times telegraphs that the pope has notified the Emperor Francis Joseph in an autograph letter that there are reasons which induce him to leave Rome at a more or less early date. The pope says he is well aware his decision will have serious consequences to Christendom, but he is bound to carry out his intentions.

LIVERPOOL GRAIN MARKET.

LIVERPOOL, March 29.—Flour, unchanged; wheat quiet and steady: 8s@8s 5d; spring, 7s 9d@7s 11d; California, 7s 4d@7s 8d; club, 7s 9d@8s 4d. Corn, a shade higher; new, 4s 9d; old, 5s.

STEAMER ASHORE.

LONDON, March 29.—The steamer Balbec, bound from Liverpool for Havre, is ashore at Lands End, and full of water. All on board were saved by the rocket apparatus.

NEWS ITEMS FROM SUMMIT STATION.

HILLSDALE, Or. March 29.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Perhaps a few items from this suburban vale would be of interest to the general public and with that idea in view will state that our village is more commonly known as Summit Station or the O. & C. railroad, three miles from Portland by the county road and five by rail. Nestled down among the hills as it is, the place is at once attractive and pleasant to look upon, coupled with pure air, fine spring water and its nearness to the city makes it very desirable for summer residences.

At the last annual school meeting held Monday, March 1, a 6 mill tax was levied to build a new school house, as the present one is far too small to accommodate the growing interests of the district. The M. E. Church society is also preparing to build a neat little church on grounds which they have purchased for that purpose. Several substantial residences are also contemplated by a number of business men in your city who are preparing to make this their future residence.

We have received our papers from the department at Washington for the establishment of a postoffice and will soon have the same open for business.

Interested parties are strongly talking of opening another general store to meet the increased demands of trade in this section, and we shortly intend to petition the railroad company to erect a station house and waiting-room for public convenience. The farming community contiguous to this village are fully up with the spirit of the times and general improvement is the order of the day.

THE WAR IN THE SOUDAN.

A BRITISH GOVERNOR WANTED.

SUAKIM, March 29.—Various friendly shieks ask that a British governor be appointed for Tokar.

GENERAL NEWS.

A Rose-Colored Description of the Coeur d'Alene Mines.

SARGENT DECLINES THE RUSSIAN MISSION.

News Notes from San Francisco—Additional Particulars of the Death of Prince Leopold—Terrible Accident.

To be Taken with Plenty of Salt.

ST. PAUL, March 29.—State Senator Griggs, just returned from the Coeur d'Alene region, says: The yield of gold the coming season will be extraordinary. One miner, a few weeks ago, too poor to buy his own outfit, has taken $5000 from a place six feet deep and square. Another has sold a quarter of his claim of five acres for $10,000 cash. A miner at Eaglecity has sent $1200 to the United States mint. He showed me three nuggets worth $167. A merchant at Spokane Falls has taken $40,000 from the miners in exchange for supplies. A few of the placers are working, but on the most of them there is from two to twenty feet of snow. The snow is melting rapidly. Miners who are working take out $40 per day per man. Men who jumped the Widow's claim last fall have taken out $18,000. There are 500 men in the mines, and their claims cannot be bought. Many sit, gun in hand, watching their claims. People are flocking into the mining region at the rate of 100 a day. At Thompson's Falls over 100 buildings were erected in the past two weeks. It is anticipated that there will be an influx of from 50,000 to 100,000 people.

Sargent Declines the Russian Mission.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—On receipt of Secretary Frelinghuysen's telegram informing him in a complimentary manner of his transfer to St. Petersburg, and the unanimous confirmation of his nomination by the United States senate, Minister Sargent cabled the secretary a warm expression of gratitude for the approval of his course in the Lasker matter and for the action of the president and the senate in conferring upon him the Russian mission, but adds that he could not accept it, and wished to resign the post at Berlin to-day. In response to further telegrams from Frelinghuysen Sargent telegraphs repeating his assurances of gratitude, but adhering to his purpose, because of ill health, and for other reasons, to be explained by letter. He adds that he would to-day turn over the legation to the secretary of the legation, taking a leave of absence, on the expiration of which he will formally announce to the German government his resignation.

A PENSION BILL AGREED UPON.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The house committee on invalid pensions, by a vote of five to four, has decided to report adversely Prices bill to pension all soldiers who served in the late war, at the rate of twenty-two cents per month for each month's service.

The bill of Robinson of Ohio, to place all ex-Union soldiers who were confined in confederate prisons upon the pension rolls, and pay them $2 a day for each day's imprisonment, was taken up, and Matson offered a substitute providing that pension shall be given to any ex-Union prisoner whom the board of pension surgeons shall find suffering from any disorder, either general or specific; also providing for pensioning widows of any Union soldier who was confined in a confederate prison and died from the effects of his confinement: the only evidence necessary in the latter cases to be the testimony of the physician who attended her husband in his last illness. After some discussion the substitute was adopted.

Kellogg's Case.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The case of ex-Senator Kellogg was up before Judge Wylie to-day, who fixed his trial for April 21st. In the meantime continued search will be made for Walsh, who is wanted to testify against Kellogg.

A Possibility.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—There is a possibility of the establishment of postal relations between Mexico and the United States similar to those existing between this country and Canada.

Bank Statement.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Weekly bank statement: Deposits decreased, $2,930,000; reserve decreased, $801,075. Banks now hold $7,725,450 in excess of legal requirements.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Wool, dull, and in buyers' favor; domestic fleece, 33@45c; pulled, 15@40c; unwashed, 10@28c; Texas, 14@27c.

CALIFORNIA.

Arrival of the Alaskan.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—The new steamer Alaskan, belonging to the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company, arrived yesterday in this port from Philadelphia, 129 days out. She will be run on Puget Sound. The steamer is a sister ship to the Olympian, which is now in the service. The long voyage is due to stoppages at Savannah, St. Thomas, Maranham and Pernambuco, in Brazil, Montevideo and Punta Arenas, in Magellan straits, Valparaiso, Callao and Acapulco. The vessel is not thoroughly finished; the details will be completed here. Captain Martin is in charge of the steamer. The crew numbers fifty men.

Fire on Market Street.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Fire broke out last night in a building on Market street, between First and Second streets, owned by Bowman & Belden and occupied by Fisher & Baum, dealers in hosiery, notions, etc., and E. Reed, manufacturer of shirts and underwear. The difficulty in breaking in the heavy iron doors gave the fire an opportunity of gaining considerable headway before the fire department could get properly to work. Fisher & Baum are damaged $15,000, fully insured. Reed's loss will probably reach $8000.

Mapleson's Company Goes East.

Mapleson's opera company leave at 11 o'clock to-night, by special train, for Salt Lake and the East. M. H. De Young and Mrs. De Young who are en route for Europe, accompany them as guests. Patti is traveling in her special car.

A careful estimate made to-night puts the gross receipts of the seventeen performances of Mapleson's opera company in this city at $205,000. Mapleson's net profits were $85,000.

Shipping Intelligence.

Arrived—Steamer Wilmington, Blackburn, four days from Departure bay and Puget sound ports, passengers and merchandise, to Frank, Carsons & Co.; steamer State of California, Debney, 59 hours from Portland, via Astoria, 48 hours, passengers and merchandise, to Goodall, Perkins & Co. Cleared—British steamer Wellington, Young, Nanaimo, R. D. Dunsmuir & Sons; schooner Queen, Brandt, Port Townsend, Charles W. Wells.

Sacramento Lighted with the Electric Light.

SACRAMENTO, March 29.—The city is lighted for the first time to-night with the long-promised electric light. It gives a bright, cheerful appearance to the streets, and, in consequence, the thoroughfares are crowded with admiring promenaders.

RAILROAD NOTES.

ENDORSED THE PROJECT.

DENVER, March 29.—A meeting of the chamber of commerce and board of trade last evening unanimously endorsed the building of the Denver and New Orleans road to the Canadian river in Texas, to connect with the Fort Worth and Denver road. Contracts have been executed and the work will be pushed forward immediately.

DENVER, March 29.—Morning papers comment favorably on the action of the joint meeting of the chamber of commerce and board of trade last night at which strong resolutions were unanimously adopted in favor of legislation to enforce the provisions of the state constitution requiring all railways to do business on equal terms, and in favor of the extension of the Denver and New Orleans railroad to the Gulf. Ex-Governor Evans has taken the contract for himself and associates to make such extension, with the full assurance of the cooperation of the entire community for protection against discrimination.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR

AN EDITOR ASSASSINATED.

DENVER, March 29.—The Republican's Albuquerque special says that Charles L. Knox, editor of a paper published at Manzano, New Mexico, was shot and killed last evening while sitting in his office. The assassin is unknown. The shot was fired through the window.

WOMAN FATALLY SHOT.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Late last night the wife of Gould Thorpe, of No. 206 West Twenty first street, was shot fatally by George S. Walsh, a visitor. Walsh has been arrested. The cause of the shooting is not given by the police.

ACCIDENTS.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION OF DYNAMITE.

CHESTER, Pa., March 29.—The nitro-glycerine house of the Repauno chemical works, at Thompson's Point, New Jersey, opposite this city, exploded at 1:30 this morning, and it is supposed that seven or eight men were killed, including Lammot Dupont, vice president of the company; W. N. Hill, superintendent; and Mr. Norcross, compounder of dynamite. A tug was immediately dispatched to this city for surgeons, and returned with a number. Many houses in this city were badly shaken by the explosion. The Repauno works are among the largest dynamite manufacturing houses in the country and are operated largely by the Duponts of Delaware.

THE FIRE RECORD.

DESTRUCTIVE PRAIRIE FIRE.

HUTCHINSON, Ks., March 29.—During the high wind yesterday a terrible prairie fire broke out at Castleton which burned over a territory of ten miles in length. Everything in its path, including houses, barns, stock, grain, etc., were destroyed. One man lost 600 tons of hay and 200 head of sheep.

NOTABLE DEAD.

FUNERAL OF AUGUSTUS SCHELL.

NEW YORK, March 29.—The funeral of Augustus Schell took place this afternoon. A large attendance was present.

CANADA.

MORE ABOUT WIGGINS.

OTTAWA, March 29.—Wiggins says: "My storm is here. I saw it in Neptune's glass; but the equation of time is the most obscure and difficult I have ever reckoned, which accounts for the maximum error of forty eight hours. The earthquakes and cyclones of Thursday will convince scientists that I'm right."

GERMANY.

SARGENT HAS RESIGNED.

LONDON, March 29.—The Berlin correspondent of the Daily News says: Mr. Sargent will resign the post at Berlin and refuse the St. Petersburg mission; it is evident his appointment to the latter post only was only a previously arranged formality to facilitate his recall. The Times says Sargent has resigned and prefers to return home.

ITALY.

ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE AT ISCHIA.

NAPLES, March 29.—There was an earthquake this morning on the Island of Ischia.

J. F. Warren, deputy sheriff, has arrived at Cheney with William Jackson, the supposed murderer of Chief William, who it will be remembered was killed about six months ago. The prisoner is the last one of the dangerous and troublesome family of Jackson boys—one having been killed in Cheney last fall by a sheriff's posse, and another now in the penitentiary for selling liquor to Indians. Will stated the officer and said no one man could capture him, but Mr. Warren performed the feat successfully lodging the desperado in the Cheney jail. This will be the only murder trial yet on the docket for the April term of court, and will probably be a very interesting case.

FREIGHTS—No movement apparent, shippers out of the market at the moment. Several vessels leaving California in ballast a short time ago are now at Australian ports loading coal here.

WHEAT—Market very inactive and weak to sell. Advices are of unchanged tone. Quote $1 62½ for valley and $1 52½ for Walla Walla.

FLOUR—Continued weakness is manifested in some directions, some standards reported as shading $4 75.

OATS—Market shows no signs of improvement, but it is probable that stocks will shortly be reduced, as there is a call from the outside for railroad use.

POTATOES—Stocks not so excessive, but values do not rally. We quote 40c offered for good. New are coming from California in small lots.

HIDES—Dry firm at 17c, with shade advance deemed possible for strictly choice. Green hides firm.

FRUIT—Choice apples wanted at $1 75@2 25. Few good oranges in. Lemons very low, but promise advance. Sicily will shortly be in receipt by rail, Wm. Dunbar having a lot on the way. The freight of 60c per box from San Francisco will be saved.

CHICKENS—More in and values weak at last quotations.

EGGS—Stocks liberal, with 25c occasionally shaded.

BUTTER—All kinds weak. Less California roll in.

CANNED SALMON.

English advices tell of limited stocks and small shipments from this coast as compared with last year. The season's shipments were 368,627 cases, consisting of 258,020 from Columbia river, 29,787 from San Francisco and 15,512 from Victoria. The shortage is placed at 55,000 cases. The opening of rail communication gives us a new direct outlet and draws in that way a quantity that otherwise must have been sent to England. Evidently the English men do not expect any of this to cross the Atlantic. Shipments from this coast for the season of 1881 were 508,197 cases; for 1882, 557,510 cases and for 1880, 305,716 cases. Outside river shipments of 1883 were 102,123 165,862 cases, which amount has found a market along the Atlantic shore. Doubtless the coming season will show a greater falling off of shipments to England, for if the Atlantic markets are at all favorable an increased trade will result. Hanby & Powell, Liverpool, in their circular of March 7th last say:

"The position of the canned salmon market on this side is at the present moment peculiar, yet by no means unanticipated. Though statistically the market is by no means weak, prices have been depressed to a level of 4s to 5s below that of the corresponding time last year. All this has been caused by an over-weening anxiety to force sales, chiefly ex-quay, and while prices have thus been unduly depressed, the object of the consignees has by the same means been entirely frustrated. Less salmon has been sold at the present low prices than could have been disposed of at 2s per case more had holders showed a firmer front and displayed reasonable caution and patience. On the face of it it is evident a few thousand cases of salmon arriving in a market through channels foreign to the business inevitably bring down prices when pressed for sale, no matter how light stocks may be, while, on the other hand large consignments or heavy stocks, when judiciously held, can be worked off at fairly remunerative prices to both packers and importers. Everything here shows the demand in the country, and the limited supply to arrive should warrant us in requiring good prices, but the one hint we have pointed out offsets all calculations, and it is impossible to say when the lost ground can be regained. Within the last week or so holders appear to be somewhat firmer, but little or no business has been done at any advance. The lowest price accepted for good Columbia river was 21s 3d ex quay, whilst new 21s 9d to 22s is asked for similar goods ex store. Very little has been done in new season's salmon, buyers so far refuse to pay the prices asked and seem rather inclined to wait the further development of matters in Oregon."

Next Tuesday witnesses the incoming of the open salmon season for Columbia river. The best information says next to nothing has thus far been done by cannerymen, and that April will see very few boats out except the run be surprisingly large. In any event it is not likely that the usual April activity will be witnessed. A few of the canneries have purchased their story supplies—some have done nothing. Importations of tin have been markedly small, and the next vessels are not due for from two to four weeks. The usual number of boats and nets are not in repair, nor are the men on the ground. True, all this can be hurriedly overcome, but it goes to show the backward feeling. In new contracts there appears to be nothing doing in spot. A few sales are reported from San Francisco, but packers are unwilling to accept present low offers. Outward freights will cost less than last year, and tin will—or should—be cheaper. Canners have agreed on no concerted action, as regards the limitation of the catch.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The Columbia sails hence Monday night.

The Oregon will be due Tuesday.

The Tillie Starbuck will probably go down river Monday.

The bark Western Belle is at Cardiff to load for this port.

The new steamer Alaskan reached San Francisco to-day, 130 days from Chester. She stopped at several ports for coal and water on the way out. After refitting she comes to Portland, and it is entirely probable that she will run on the Columbia river.

The str Idaho is in the river from Alaska and will immediately load return freight.

U. S. MARSHAL'S NOTICE—ADMIRALTY. In re the Albina.—The United States of America, District of Oregon, ss.—Whereas, a libel hath been filed in the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon, on the 18th day of March, 1884, by Messrs. Sidney Dell and J. G. Chapman, Proctors, in behalf of Nathan Hackett and others in a cause of partition, civil and maritime, and praying the usual process and monition of the Court that all persons interested in the said vessel, her tackle, apparel, machinery and furniture, may be cited to answer, the premises and all due proceedings being had, that the same may be decreed to be sold and the proceeds thereof be distributed according to law. Therefore, in pursuance of the monition, under the seal of said Court, to me directed and delivered on the 18th day of March, 1884, I do hereby give notice generally unto all persons having or pretending to have any right, title or interest in the said vessel called the "Albina," her boats, tackle, apparel, machinery and furniture to appear before the said Court at the city of Portland, in said District, on the 5th day of May, 1884, if it be a court day, or else on the next court day thereafter, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, then and there to answer the said libel and to make their allegations in that behalf.

Dated at Portland, in said District, the 28th day of March, 1884. EDWARD S. KEARNEY, U. S. Marshal for the District of Oregon.

SIDNEY DELL and J. G. CHAPMAN, Proctors for the Libellants.

CANCER.

The experience in the treatment of Cancer with Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) would seem to warrant us in saying that it will cure this much dreaded scourge. Persons so afflicted are invited to correspond with us.

I believe Swift's Specific has saved my life. I had virtually lost use of the upper part of my body and my arms from the poisonous effects of a large cancer on my neck, from which I had suffered for 20 years. S. S. S. has relieved me of all soreness, and the poison is being forced out of my system. I will soon be well. W. R. ROBISON, Davisboro, Ga.

Two months ago my attention was called to the case of a woman afflicted with a cancer on her shoulder, at least 5 inches in circumference, angry, painful and giving the patient no rest day or night for 6 months. I obtained a supply of Swift's Specific for her. She has taken 5 bottles and the ulcer is entirely healed up, only a very small scab remaining, and her health is better than for 5 years past; seems to be perfectly cured.

REV. JESSE H. CAMPBELL, Columbus, Ga.

I have seen remarkable results from use of Swift's Specific on a cancer. A young man near here has been afflicted 5 years with the most angry looking eating cancer I ever saw, and was nearly dead. The first bottle made a wonderful change, and, after 5 bottles were taken, he is nearly or quite well. It is truly wonderful. M. F. CRUMLEY, M. D., Oglethorpe, Ga.

UNDER LIP AND INSIDE OF CHEEK EATEN AWAY BY CANCER.

My father had an eating cancer for several years, which had eaten away his under lip and the inside of his cheek down to the bottom of his gums. We got some of Swift's Specific and gave him, and the effect has been wonderful—almost miraculous. The sores are all healed and he is perfectly well. Every one here said it was only a question of time about his death, and his cure has created the greatest excitement in this part of the country. I hope you will publish about my father's cure, and send me some circulars to give to my friends and the afflicted. WM. R. LATHROP. South Easton, Mass., Jan. 7, 1884.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

KNOW THYSELF.

A Great Medical Work on Manhood.

Exhausted Vitality, Nervous and Physical Debility, Premature Decline in Man, Errors of Youth, and the untold miseries resulting from indiscretions or excesses. A book for every man, young, middle-aged and old. It contains 125 prescriptions for all acute and chronic diseases, each one of which is invaluable. So found by the author, whose experience for 23 years is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any physician. 300 pages, bound in beautiful French muslin, embossed covers, full gilt, guaranteed to be a finer work, in every sense—mechanical, literary and professional—than any other work sold in this country for $2.50, or the money will be refunded in every instance. Price only $1.00 by mail, post paid. Illustrative sample 6 cents. Send now. Gold medal awarded the author by the National Medical Association, to the officers of which he refers.

This book should be read by the young for instruction, and by the afflicted for relief. It will benefit all.—London Lancet.

There is no member of society to whom this book will not be useful, whether youth, parent, guardian, instructor or clergyman.—Tribune.

Address the Peabody Medical Institute, or Dr. W. H. Parker, No. 4 Bulfinch street, Boston, Mass., who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Chronic and obstinate diseases that have baffled the skill of all other physicians a specialty. Such treated successfully without an instance of failure. HEAL THYSELF mif&wly
